

Elijah Putilin is an Adjunct Professor of International Dispute Resolution at several universities in Central and South-East Asia and a founder of Putilin Dispute Management (PDM), a dispute resolution and public international law practice.

Prior to founding PDM, Mr Putilin worked as a Deputy Head of Legal Services at the Asian International Arbitration Centre (AIAC) and Secretary General of the Asian Domain Name Dispute Resolution Centre (ADNDRC). As part of the AIAC and ADNDRC, Mr Putilin co-led a team of counsels and supervised more than 3000 adjudication, arbitration, mediation and domain name disputes cases referred to the Centre. Mr Putilin also played an instrumental role in revision of the AIAC's rules and the Malaysian Arbitration Act 2005.

Before he moved to Malaysia to join the AIAC and the ADNDRC, Mr Putilin had practiced principally from Moscow offices of Squire Patton Boggs and Clifford Chance. He represented and advised clients in over a hundred disputes before SCAI, SCC, LCIA, ICC, ICDR and ICAC (Russia) tribunals, foreign and domestic courts of all levels, including the RF Supreme Courts, and international trade tribunals.

Mr Putilin is the Member of the Tashkent International Arbitration Center's Court of Arbitration, alongside Stanimir Alexandrov, Dirk De Meulemeester, Olena Perepelynska and Aybek Akhmedov. Mr Putilin is also the President of the Central Asian Arbitration Association, the first of its kind organization in the region to promote the use of alternative dispute resolution mechanisms¹. The highlights of Mr Putilin's experience include:
